

Missouri Farm Boy Takes Over Big 4-Year Job

By DON WHITEHEAD
Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—The old American legend that any farm boy can become president lived again today in a 64-year-old man from Missouri—Harry Truman.

At the stroke of noon, the one-time plowboy from Jackson county took his place before the dignitaries of many foreign lands and before his own people.

His swearing to the oath of office launched him on a full four-year term in the White House, won on his own.

The feeling that Harry Truman was one of them flowed through the tens of thousands drawn to Washington by the magnet of his inauguration. They seemed to feel a close kinship with the president whose past is deep-rooted in the soil of the Midwest.

And Mr. Truman forged this link stronger by starting his great day at a breakfast with the old buddies he commanded in World War I as captain of Battery D, 129th Field Artillery. It was a

Big U. S. A. Loan Granted Israeli

Diplomatic Recognition To Be Next Step
By JOHN SCALI
Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—Full American diplomatic recognition of Israel appears certain sometime next week as a follow-up to a $100,000,000 loan to the new Jewish nation.

The American government took a big step toward this objective yesterday by granting the loan to the provisional Israeli government — $35,000,000 immediately and $65,000,000 more during the year.

President Truman last May 14 — a few minutes after the new state was proclaimed — recognized it as a "defacto" government, meaning that the United States regards it as in fact the ruling authority there. Last Oct. 24 he announced he had ordered quick handling of loan applications from Israel. Full recognition is called "de jure."

The loan approval makes American money available to develop Israel's agriculture and industry. Also, coming six days before elections are held in the Jewish state, it reflects United States confidence in Israel's future.

Government officials told a reporter that barring an election upset the state department will extend full diplomatic recognition to Israel shortly after the January 25 elections.

Only a total unexpected victory by the Communists or extreme left wing Socialists could cause the state department to stop or delay its plans to broaden the limited "de facto" recognition.

Aged Grocer Dies In Fire At Munson

Munson, Mich., Jan. 20. (AP)—Albert Noble, 82, was killed Wednesday night in a fire which destroyed his combination home and grocery in this Ohio state line village.

Neighbors said they saw the aged man come to the door at the height of the blaze and then turned back into the flaming interior.

State police and sheriff's officers searched the wreckage today for the body of Noble, who lived alone.

G. O. P. Fears Spring Election, Democrats Say

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Lansing, Jan. 20. (AP)—Democrats in the House of Representatives today were accusing Republicans of maneuvering to keep down the spring election vote.

The Republicans led in shelving a bill which would have permitted Detroit voters to pass on raising school taxes some $10,000,000 this spring.

Due for a vote yesterday, the measure was sent back to the House Elections committee "for further study."

Rep. Michael J. O'Brien (R-Detroit), sponsor of the measure, protested vigorously but in vain. He told Republican leaders who were pushing the shelving of the bill "for a few days" he would bet it would not be out of the committee in time for the Detroit tax question to appear on the ballot.

Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe), chairman of the elections committee, said his group would consider the bill at a meeting today, but he could not predict, he said, when it would be reported out.

Later in private, O'Brien said the Republicans had "rigged" the maneuver because they feared a heavy Wayne vote, normally Democratic, and a light out-state vote, normally Republican, might tip state offices into the Democratic columns. He said the G. O. P. feared a school question on the ballot would swell the spring vote.

Among state offices to be filled at the spring election are highway commissioner and state superintendent of public instruction, both "cabinet rank" carrying memberships on the state administrative board.

They are now held by Republicans and party leaders would hate to lose them as they lost the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general seats last November.

The House approved without debate a Senate resolution calling for a legislative investigation of sales tax collections.

Canadian Plarmigan All Die In Shipment To Upper Peninsula

Lansing, Jan. 20. (AP)—First efforts to transplant plarmigan (partridge) from Saskatchewan, Canada, to Michigan's Upper Peninsula have failed, the state conservation department said today.

The first shipment, of 40 to 80 birds was dead on arrival to a Canadian reshipment point, the department was told.

The experiment was made in an attempt to secure a new game bird for the Upper Peninsula. Last November the department approved the spending of $2,500 for the purchase of 200 plarmigan and the costs of transportation.

Governor Balks At High Topper

Michigan Executive Has Plenty Of Bow Ties

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
(AP) Special Washington Service
Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—Michigan's top-hatted Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the slightly Sexton high school band from Lansing carried the state's honors in the inaugural parade today.

The Sexton high band, whose trip to Washington was sponsored by Lansing citizens, was spotted for the march down Pennsylvania avenue ahead of the Michigan float.

The float was a papier mache map illustrating the state's industries.

Governor Williams and Michigan's leading Democrats were tireless in attending the crowded inaugural round.

And for all events lanky Governor Williams displayed the height of formal fashion—from the neck down.

The rest of the way he set his own style—a bow tie instead of the prescribed four-in-hand, and a gray-felt instead of the customary silk top hat.

The governor's military aide, navy commander Burl Bailey of Ludington, had a time keeping Williams to his appointment schedule.

Traverse City Date Bureau Disbanded; Girls Not Coming

Traverse City, Jan. 20. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce "date bureau" had been disbanded today and 200 eligible young males began making other plans for the weekend of Jan. 29. They've been "stood up."

C of C officials had recruited the local men as escorts for members of the General Motors Girls Club of Detroit who had planned to hold their annual winter outing here Jan. 29-30.

The event has been cancelled because of insufficient registrations by club members to warrant chartering a special train, and because of weather uncertainties, local officials were informed.

Detroit Trains Held Up By Fire

Repair Shops Levelled In $200,000 Blaze

Detroit, Jan. 20. (AP)—Ten trains were held up for several hours last night by a $200,000 fire that swept the huge car repair shop of the Michigan Central freight terminal.

The blaze leveled the long, one story frame and brick building, destroying five steel cars loaded with coal, seven boxcars and three cabooses. The coal had been in to thaw out.

However, three new diesel locomotives, valued at $7,000,000, were moved out of the shop late yesterday afternoon.

The repair shop, 600 feet long and 100 feet wide, housed a paint shop, tin shop, an acetylene torch plant and storage rooms for parts and repair materials.

Fire Marshall Ed Hall estimated the damage at about $200,000. Rail traffic was snarled because all power in the yard was off.

Normal operations were resumed when two mobile generators were set up to operate the turntable.

The trains delayed included seven passenger trains and three freight trains. They were scheduled for runs south, north or west of Detroit.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries but returned to duty after treatment at the scene.

Protection Sought For Consumers In Utility Rate Boosts

Lansing, Jan. 20. (AP)—Attorney General Stephen J. Roth today proposed new legislation to "give the consumer the same protection as public utilities have."

He added his voice, but more specifically, to that of Governor Williams who has expressed dissatisfaction with a series of recent rate increases granted to public utilities by the State Public Service Commission.

The attorney general said he would propose to Williams next week that the legislature be asked to grant the cities and the state power to obtain injunctions halting utility rate increases without posting bonds.

He also proposed the legislature declare specifically that the commission may not grant "interim or emergency" rate increases. This was a reference to the commission's recent decision to allow the Michigan Consolidated Gas company a $7,259,000 annual "interim" increase.

Next Chinese Truce Move Left To Reds

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Nanking, Jan. 20. (AP)—The government offered tonight to halt hostilities and talk peace in China's civil war but left to the Communists the next move.

In north China a separate peace agreement suitable to both sides reportedly has been reached but not put into effect. This agreement would cover only that part of north China still in government hands.

The Kuomintang (government) party's powerful central political council today approved the cabinet's resolution calling for a cease fire order and the beginning of peace negotiations.

President Chiang Kai-shek has not spoken. But government spokesman Shen Chang-huan obviously spoke with Chiang's knowledge and approval.

Said Shen: "There will be no more peace overtures until the Communists have expressed their desires for a similar halt in hostilities. Then and then only will the national government consider ordering cease fire and sending a delegation to discuss negotiations."

A member of the government party's political council said its membership approved at a hectic meeting today the executive's Yuan's previous efforts to bring about a truce.

The party council has no governmental powers but no important steps are taken without its approval.

(From Peiping, Spencer Moosa, Associated Press Correspondent, got through a dispatch saying terms agreeable in principle to both sides had been reached there. He quoted a member of a peace delegation to the Communists as saying the terms call for the surrender of Peiping and all north China. Moosa cautioned these terms had not been put into effect.)

(Under the Peiping terms, said Moosa's source, Peiping and Ke-wu in Suiyuan province, would be handed over to the Reds. The nationalist commander in the north, Gen. Fu Tso-yi, would step down and be removed from the Communist "war criminals" list. Moosa warned the deal had not been completed and might yet slip, but the nationalist position in north China seemed hopeless.)

Southern Michigan, busy today repairing hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage from the windstorm, reported temperatures ranging downward from Detroit's 14 to eight degrees at Grand Rapids.

Meanwhile 30,000 Detroit school children returned to classes after a surprise holiday from the storm. Utilities services had been interrupted.

The weather bureau said it would continue "quite cold" today but would warm up a little Friday. Some snow fell in scattered sections.

Windstorm Fatal To 2 In Michigan

(By The Associated Press)
A Detroit police sergeant died today, the second Michigan victim of Wednesday's vicious wind storm.

He was Sgt. Clarence W. Bracey, 50, who was struck by a car while directing traffic around a fallen tree early Wednesday morning.

Earlier, a Flint auto plant worker had been crushed to death there by a falling tree.

Palestine Peace Agreement Near

Compromise Drafted For Negev Desert Scrap

By L. S. CHAKALES
Rhodes, Jan. 20. (AP)—Armistice negotiations between Israel and two Arab neighbors—Egypt and Lebanon—are reported in a decisive stage.

An authoritative source in Rhodes said last night Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting United Nations mediator, has submitted to Israel and Egypt the first draft of a compromise on the disputed Negev desert.

A reliable source in Tel Aviv said the first draft of an Israeli-Lebanese agreement was written yesterday at the Lebanese frontier village of Ras En Naqura.

The Rhodes informant said the Israeli-Egyptian compromise brings together the conflicting viewpoints of the two nations on the strategic southern Palestine desert. He said it also involves troop withdrawals and a reduction in the numbers of soldiers on both sides in that area.

Complete details of the compromise were not available. Bunche has pledged both the Israeli and Egyptian delegations to secrecy.

The Israeli-Lebanese agreement was drawn up between representatives of the two governments, the Tel Aviv informant said. He said the delegations returned to their respective capitals to present the yet unsigned drafts for the approval of their home governments.

The difference lay in increased costs.

Communism And War Scored In Inaugural Talk

Program Mapped To End World Misery

By the Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—Harry S. Truman took on leadership of the nation for four years today with a pledge to strive for worldwide "Peace, Plenty and Freedom."

In a fighting inaugural speech, he branded Communism the chief threat to those aims and a breeder of war.

It was the climatic moment of inauguration day for the 64-year-old, one-time Missouri farm boy who, over all odds, had won a White House term in his own right.

He accepted that term by placing his left hand on Bibles opened to the beatitudes and the ten commandments, raised his right hand to God, and swore to serve the Nation faithfully in the uncertain years ahead.

Chief Justice Vinson administered the oath. The scene was the east front of the Capitol, bathed in the brilliant sparkle of a bright, winter sun.

Just before Mr. Truman, Alben W. Barkley, 71 year old veteran Kentucky Senator, was sworn in as vice president.

Millions Hear Ceremony
Within immediate range of Mr. Truman's voice from the steps of the Capitol were thousands of Americans. By radio, millions of others in this country and abroad heard him. Television carried the scene as far west as the Mississippi.

Stretching along Pennsylvania avenue to see the after-ceremony parade were an estimated million or more.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—President Truman today pledged a global crusade for "peace, plenty and freedom" in a blistering inaugural speech denouncing the "false philosophy" of Communism and war.

OATH UNCHANGED
Washington, Jan. 20. (AP)—The oath of office Harry S. Truman took today as president — the same sweeping pledge made by his predecessors over the past 150 years — is just 35 words long:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

It is laid down in those words in the constitution.

The chief executive keyed his address to the quickening struggle between the Democratic west and the Communist east.

While he cautioned that America's material resources are limited, Mr. Truman promised to draw deeply on the "inexhaustible" resources of this country's technical know-how to help free peoples

Cash Talks In New Bids For Detroit Race Track License

Lansing, Jan. 20 (AP)—The state agriculture commission talked cold cash today when it called for new bids for the lucrative 1949 racing concession at the state fairgrounds in Detroit.

Letters were sent to all seven previous bidders for the franchise specifying that a certified check for 10 per cent of the cash total offered would have to accompany all bids.

The commission also specified that the balance of the sum offered for the concession must be paid over when the lease is signed. These terms were seen as ruling out any bidders who could not back up their offers with immediate cash.

New bids were asked, with a Jan. 28 deadline, after the commission and the state administrative board couldn't agree on the commission's selection for the franchise.

The commission earlier gave the nod to the Thoroughbred Turf Club Inc., which made a bid of $450,000 for 70 days of racing. The Turf Club is backed by a group of Michigan industrialists and New York bankers headed by Louis J. Lepper of Detroit as president.

Mercury Hits Low Of 33 Below Zero At Pembina, N. Dak.

Chicago, Jan. 20 (AP)—The winter season's coldest weather numbed the northern plains and most of the Midwest today.

A sub-zero belt extended from Montana into Illinois. The mercury plunged to 33 below in Pembina, N. D., and across the cold front eastward into Illinois. Rockford reported a reading of 21 below.

Temperatures didn't get above zero in some parts of the arctic area and federal forecasters didn't expect much relief until Friday. The highest temperatures predicted for North Dakota today were 10 to 20 below zero. Some snow fell in the Dakotas and occasional blizzard conditions were forecast.

Rockford's 21 below compared to a low of 4 above at Chicago—some 80 miles away. Moline, in northwestern Illinois, reported a low of -15. There were sub-zero marks in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Montana and sections of Michigan.

End Of Present Draft Law Seen

Volunteers Bring Army Up To Full Quota

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—The present draft law may never be used again if enlistments continue high enough to keep the army at its present strength.

That indication was seen yesterday in figures announced by Secretary of Defense Forrestal. He said the armed forces on December 31 had reached the full quota set by President Truman as his goal for the year ending June 30, 1950—which also is the date the draft law dies.

Mr. Truman called in his budget message to Congress for 1,616,000 men in uniform by that date. Forrestal said present strength totals 1,621,000—including 5,000 West Point and Annapolis cadets omitted from the President's figure.

February and March draft calls already have been stopped by the army.

Two AWOL Soldiers Held For Murder In Toledo Robbery

Toledo, O., Jan. 20 (AP)—Privates Thomas I. Howell, 17, Affinity, W. Va., and Harold Sweet, 22, Johnston, O., both AWOL from Fort Jackson, S. C., were indicted yesterday by a Lucas county grand jury on the charge of first degree murder.

The indictment charges them with the fatal bludgeoning of Mrs. Lucille Harward, 79, in her home here the night of Dec. 17. One count charges them with the slaying, the second count with murder during the perpetration of a robbery.

Joel S. Rhinefort, Lucas county prosecutor, said the two had confessed beating the woman to death to rob her of a diamond ring and watch.

The two soldiers were arrested by Michigan State Police near Erie, Mich. A few hours after the slaying, and are being detained in the Lucas county jail here. Howell was turned over to common pleas court for trial by Paul Alexander, juvenile court jurist.

everywhere.

Communism "holds that war is inevitable," Mr. Truman told massed thousands in the Capitol Plaza immediately after taking his oath of office for a four-year term. And even now, he said, it is endangering attempts to keep world peace.

But he declared that as a result of American efforts "hundreds of millions of people all over the world now agree with us that we need not have war."

Security Pact Promised

These efforts must now be expanded, he said, to include a "bold new program" of foreign economic development, aimed at wiping out misery, hunger and despair in backward areas all over the world.

Mr. Truman listed that as one of "four major courses of action" to be stressed in coming years.

He also called for a security pact with Western Europe, which he hopes to send to the Senate "soon," and he promised to strengthen non-Communist countries cooperating with American security plans by providing them U. S. military advice and equipment.

His proposed new program for improving conditions in the areas which might offer a breeding place for Communism amounted to a call for a new front in the cold war. In this endeavor the cooperation of Allied nations would be "warmly welcomed," the president said.

"More than half the people of the world are living in conditions of approaching misery," Mr. Truman declared.

"Their food is inadequate. They are victims of disease. Their economic life is primitive and stagnant. Their poverty is a handicap and a threat both to them and to more prosperous areas."

To combat those conditions he proposed enlisting American capital investments and industrial skills—plus any assistance which might come from other sources.

No Compromise With Reds

"Our aim," he said, "should be to help the free peoples of the world, through their own efforts, to produce more food, more clothing, more materials for housing, and more mechanical power to lighten their burdens. We invite other countries to pool their technological resources in this undertaking."

The "Truman Plan" for world betterment constituted the only new point in the president's four main courses of foreign policy action. Under the other three this nation would:

1. Continue "unflinching support to the United Nations" and search for ways to strengthen it.
2. Continue programs for world economic recovery; first, through the European recovery program; second, by increasing world trade.

3. Strengthen "freedom-loving nations against the dangers of aggression."

Mr. Truman flatly promised: "We will provide military advice and equipment to free nations which will cooperate with us in the maintenance of peace and security."

While the president nowhere named Russia outright in his scathing attack on Communism, his words apparently ended any possibility of quick and easy compromise between the Soviet Union and the west.

But "in due time," he said, he believes "those countries which now oppose us will abandon their delusions and join with the free nations of the world in a just settlement of international differences."

People Misled

That he does not consider such a settlement possible now he made clear at the very outset. The United States and other non-Communist nations, he declared, have been balked in their work for "a just and lasting peace" by "a regime with contrary aims and a totally different concept of life."

"That regime adheres to a false philosophy which purports to offer freedom, security and greater opportunity to mankind," he asserted. "Misled by this philosophy, many people have sacrificed their liberty only to learn to their sorrow that deceit and mockery, poverty and tyranny, are their reward."

"That false philosophy is Communism."

Then he went on to compare that "false" philosophy with democracy.

"Communism," he said, "is based on the belief that man is so weak and inadequate that he is unable to govern himself, and therefore requires the rule of strong masters."

"Democracy is based on the conviction that man has the moral and intellectual capacity, as well as the inalienable right, to govern himself with reason and justice."

"Communism subjects the individual to arrest without lawful cause, punishment without trial, and forced labor as the chattel of the state. It decrees what information he shall receive, what art he shall produce, what leaders he shall follow, and what thoughts he shall think."

"Democracy maintains that government is established for the benefit of the individual, and is charged with responsibility of protecting the rights of the individual and his freedom in the exercise of his abilities."

"Communism maintains that social wrongs can be corrected only by violence."

"Democracy has proved that social justice can be achieved through peaceful change."

"Communism holds that the world is so deeply divided into opposing classes that war is inevitable."

"Democracy holds that free nations can settle differences justly and maintain lasting peace."

BUREAU WILL SEEK INDUSTRY

Will Hire Services Of Promotion Director

The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau will engage the services of a director to supervise the activities of its newly created industrial promotion division.

This decision was made at a meeting of the Bureau's industrial committee held in the city of Marquette last night. It is planned to make the selection within a month. The committee decided that it would be preferable to have a man who knows the Upper Peninsula well and has sales experience.

Announcement was made that $8,450 had been pledged for the industrial development fund by 28 communities, which will give sums ranging from $100 to $1,000 each. Nine communities have not been approached as yet for pledges.

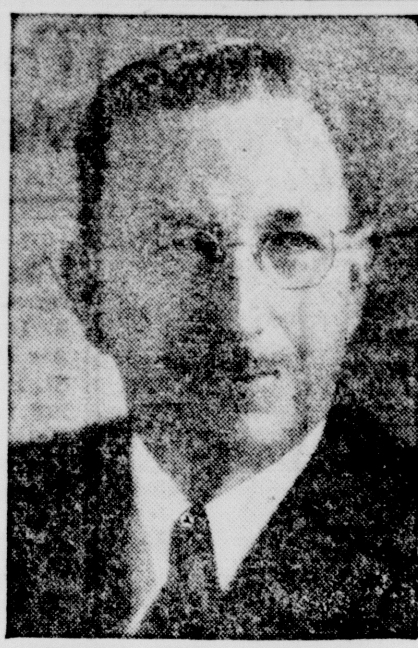

Ben F. Clark of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau held a school of instruction Wednesday for representatives of Breitung, Sidnaw, Kenton and Big Bay on the making of community industrial surveys. About forty cities and towns have now completed such surveys in the Upper Peninsula.

Members of the industrial committee in attendance at the meeting were Jerry Warren, Ontonagon; Howard Billings, Iron River; John Morrison, Marquette; and George Newton, Iron Mountain.

Highway, railway, air and ferry transportation matters were discussed by the Bureau's transportation committee. Attending the meeting were A. A. Peterman, Calumet; A. A. Flodin, Iron Mountain; Joseph Gannon, Marquette; and H. E. Guy, Menominee.

George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, reported that $48,000 worth of advertising had been placed in the 1949 Lure Book, which will be off the press about April 1.

Forest Research Center Is Needed

THE UPPER PENINSULA Development Bureau is urging the 81st Congress to appropriate funds to expand forest research in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. A survey of the situation shows conclusively that further research, particularly with softwood species of lumber, is vitally needed and that the request of the Development Bureau is fully justified.

Research stations have been established in Northern Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota, as well as in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan. The Upper Peninsula, however, produces more lumber than any of these areas and is particularly dependent upon its forest resources for economic stability. Records of the forest resources in the Lakes States area, in fact, show that the Upper Peninsula of Michigan produces more lumber than the other areas—Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and the Lower Peninsula of Michigan combined.

There is a forest experimental center at Dukes, in Marquette county, but its research work is confined to the hardwood forests. The need now is for greater research in softwood, including pulpwood. This study cannot be developed unless sufficient additional funds are made available by Congress.

The development of greater uses for aspen, of which there is a tremendous supply in the Upper Peninsula, would in itself justify a research center in this area.

The economic resources of the Upper Peninsula are closely interwoven with the lumber industry. Knowledge of growth, regeneration, processing and protection of the forest resources is essential to the future economic strength of this area.

Sales Tax Losses Must Be Plugged

IF THE STATE is losing millions of dollars annually due to inadequate sales tax collections, as several finance authorities claim, it would seem that the legislature had better wrestle with this problem and plug the leaks.

Senator Higgins, chairman of the taxation committee, estimates that the revenue loss is $20,000,000 a year. The deputy state revenue collector, Clarence Locke, believes that the loss is closer to $10,000,000. That the loss is considerable seems to be generally accepted.

The sales tax constitutes a levy on dollar value of retail sales. It is collected by the retailer from his customers, added to the price of the goods that the customers purchase. Apparently many retailers are not turning over to the state all of the money that they have collected on retail sales or, at least, that seems to be the logical deduction that can be made from the allegations of the finance officers.

The obvious solution is to employ sufficient auditors to permit a more careful examination of sales records and perhaps also to establish greater penalties upon those who willfully evade paying to the state the full amount of the taxes collected from the retail customers.

Plugging these leaks will not in itself solve the state's financial problem but it will cut a large bite off the additional funds that may be required from other tax sources.

This should be and presumably will be one of the first items of business in the legislative session.

Workers' Education

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN's board of regents apparently has straightened out the mess in which it found itself after it suspended courses in workers' education last year and dismissed Arthur Elder as supervisor of the program. Elder had been active in organized labor activities as a member of the A. F. of L. teachers' union. An official of General Motors charged that subversive ideas were being expounded in the classroom, and the university promptly canceled the program. The action brought forth sharp criticism from the labor unions, which demonstrated in the last election that they are an extremely potent political force in Michigan.

The workers education program will be resumed on Jan. 31 with Everett Soop, new director of the University of Michigan Extension Service, in charge. Courses in labor economics and collective bargaining will be offered.

Labor unions are here to stay in Michigan and the rest of the nation. In fact, labor has been organized for many decades in America. Such unions as the American Federation of Labor affiliates have had long experience in the field of organization, are well-disciplined and have leaders with common sense and a sense of fairness. Some of the new unions have not had this sobering experience. In many cases, they also have been plagued with the disruptive influence of Communist agitators who have infiltrated into their membership rolls.

Workers' education courses, such as those to be offered by the University of Michigan

Extension Service, can be helpful to educate the public regarding the proper relationship that should exist between management and organized labor. Sound training is necessary for union leadership as well as for management. A tax-supported educational institution must serve the needs of both labor and management, and in doing so can promote their common welfare.

Revives Bridge Project

GOVERNOR WILLIAMS may be making just a political gesture, but nevertheless he has taken steps to bring the Straits of Mackinac bridge project before the public eye again.

Campaigning for office last fall, the governor declared that something should be done to improve transportation service across the Straits of Mackinac. Apparently desiring to make good on some of his campaign promises, he has asked the state highway department to give him a complete report on bridge and tunnel proposals for the Straits bottleneck.

Governor Williams pointed out in a public statement that he realizes that building either a bridge or tunnel would be a costly, long-range project. He suggests the possibility that it might be well to devise some way of making use of the St. Ignace causeway, which lies unused although a goodly sized chunk of taxpayer's money was used to construct it a few years ago.

The new governor admits he doesn't have the answer to the Straits of Mackinac problem, but he shows some signs of trying to do something about it. Something may come out of it eventually.

THE UPSWING IN OFFSPRING (Christian Science Monitor)

American education faces two facts of related importance: a teacher shortage and a high birth rate.

There are 15,000 more teachers now than a year ago. There are over 500,000 more enrollments this year than last. If each new teacher were given a class of about 36 students, there would be just enough new teachers to take care of all the new enrollments. But this would do nothing to better the existing situation of overcrowded classes, substandard teachers, inadequate facilities, and grossly uneven educational opportunities.

A slightly better level of pay, aroused public interest, and the prospect of federal aid to education are believed to have raised teacher morale appreciably. But more college graduates need to be kindled to the satisfying possibilities of teaching as a life work if the school system is to cope with the high birth rate.

Which will hit the schools of tomorrow first: greatly enlarged support or greatly enlarged enrollments? Will the upswing in offspring be matched by devotion to their needs?

LET'S PRACTICE DEMOCRACY (Foreign Service)

As the richest of all nations, America must constantly prove that the democracy we preach is not a cloak for imperialist profit seeking.

The lack of native capital has made it easy for American industry to invest its dollars in many foreign countries. In some countries these investments do not always produce benefits for the people at large. Instead, the gravy goes to those in political power, or a wealthy few who greedily exploit their fellow citizens.

As a result, people in these particular countries have grounds to suspect our brand of democracy is only a smoke screen for selfish gain—and our efforts to drain them of their wealth.

American investors in other countries can best protect their own speculations if they will deal exclusively with governments that function for the good of the people.

When American dollars are used to bribe native officials in conspiracies to defraud the people, and to debauch their natural resources, we simply make it easy for communism to gain new disciples.

VERBS AND SUBJECTS SHOULD AGREE

Q. Will you please explain to my class and me which verb is correct in such sentences as: "His name and address (are? is?) as follows. John Jones and Jack Jones (are? is?) one and the same person?"

A. In the first sentence there are two subjects, "name" and "address." The verb should be plural: His name and address are as follows.

In the second sentence there are also two subjects, "John Jones" and "Jack Jones." The fact that both names are borne by one man is beside the point grammatically for the reason that, until the fact is explained, John Jones and Jack Jones are thought of as two men. Therefore: John Jones and Jack Jones are one and the same person.

Now there are times when two subjects are properly treated as being singular and taking a singular verb. Here is such a sentence which was sent to me recently by an English class: Bread and milk (are? is?) his favorite food.

The compound subject "bread and milk" does not designate two foods. It designates a mixture of bread and milk as a single dish of food. Therefore: Bread and milk is his favorite food.

Similar examples: Soap and water is good for the skin. Bread and butter is a healthful food. Pork and beans was the

Acheson Has Heavy Duties

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — Few men in American public life have had the opportunity and, at the same time, the burden of responsibility that now falls on Dean Acheson. The new secretary of state will enter office with the confidence and friendship of the president and responsible leaders in Congress.

In the department he takes over he will find associates with whom he has worked on intimate terms while he was under secretary. One of the advantages in Acheson's appointment is that he begins with a broad range of experience and background.

He was in part responsible for the appointment of George F. Kennan to head the state department's planning staff. Contrary to rumors circulated since the president appointed Acheson, the two men worked well together. In fact, when Acheson's good friend, Justice Felix Frankfurter gave him a dinner at the time of his retirement as under secretary, one of two close associates present from the department was Kennan. The other was Charles E. Bohlen, now counselor of the department. Bohlen, regarded as one of the ablest and most knowledgeable experts on foreign affairs, particularly in the Russian sphere, also worked closely with Acheson.

BEDELL SMITH MAY QUIT

The new secretary will, of course, be faced with the necessity for major changes. If Walter Bedell Smith, when he ends his vacation, informs the president that he cannot for reasons of health and income return to his post as ambassador to Russia, the president will accept his resignation willingly.

General Smith should not be asked to return. Two years and more of the solitary confinement that is the American embassy in Moscow is enough to make the most dispassionate and objective man lose his perspective.

In other diplomatic posts abroad the United States is inadequately or badly represented. Changes, to be made gradually and tactfully, are essential.

A drastic overhaul is due also in the field of Latin-American relations. The deterioration there has gone a long way and the prestige and influence of this country have suffered greatly, as we seem to have condoned or even encouraged the overthrow of democratic regimes by force.

Reflecting the era of hysteria and fear now happily passing, Acheson's critics have directed most of their suspicion at the possibility he might "appease" Soviet Russia. To those who followed most closely his work as assistant secretary and under secretary that was patently absurd.

Their fear is not that he will appease Russia but that he may fail to explore all the avenues, however dim and uncertain, that might lead to a negotiated armistice or, at any rate, a truce ending the cold war. To be resolute and yet not completely unyielding at a sign of change from the Kremlin is Acheson's curiously difficult position.

ALERTNESS NEEDED

How watchful and alert he must be, while maintaining the firm course of American policy, we can know from the past. When the Russians in the spring of 1939 decided to change their approach to Nazi Germany, they did not come marching into Berlin with flags and trumpets.

An unimportant diplomat in the Soviet embassy in Berlin gave a hint to the German foreign office of a desire to improve trade relations. The significance of that hint was immediately understood and the foreign office prepared the way for negotiations that led to the Nazi-Soviet pact of August, 1939. While that is not a happy example, it is nonetheless indicative of Russian methods.

One difficulty faced by any American secretary of state is that public opinion has come to expect him to be Machiavelli, Metetrnich, St. John and Superman all rolled into one. In other words, we expect the secretary and something called "foreign policy" to solve the world's ills, even when the world is in the midst of a revolutionary change as it is today.

That attitude was implied in much of the criticism directed at that great American, George C. Marshall, who now retires. He was handicapped, it was said, by the limitations of his military background. Of course, he was. But the critics too often overlooked the quantities of greatness that carried him through a difficult transition period.

The point is that every human being has limitations of one kind or another. There is no saintly magician who can resolve every dilemma. Acheson's qualifications and capacities are so apparent that no one should be in the least surprised when the limitations of what he can do also become obvious.

main dish of the meal. My teacher and friend (the same person) is John Smith. Whisky and soda is a popular drink in England.

The rule is: A compound subject designating closely related ideas or objects may and usually does take a singular verb.

Q. This question came up in my English class and caused such an argument that I had difficulty in preserving order: If "mice" is the plural of "mouse," why isn't "hice" the plural of "house," and "meese" the plural of "moose"?

A. It was common in old English to form plurals by changing internal vowels. But so far as I know, only eight words now form their plurals in this way. They are: dormouse, dormice; foot, feet; goose, geese; house, lice; man, men; mouse, mice; tooth, teeth. Exception: tailor's goose, tailor's gooses. (Mongoose is not derived from goose. The word is a corruption of the mungus. The correct plural is mungoes.)

Familiarity Breeds Contempt

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

WINTER WOODS —There was only a little snow in the woods, especially south of Escanaba along the bay shore, yet the mystery of the earth locked in winter's cold embrace has a never-failing enchantment. We came under its spell last weekend on an afternoon rabbit hunting trip.

Dunathan

In the lowlands the freezing temperatures have heaved the moisture out of the ground in places under the shadow of the spruces. Here the moisture pushes upward, forming glistening spires of crystal ice sometimes a foot high. They look like little towers in a fairy city, gleaming like jewels when caught in the faint rays of light from the wan winter sun.

Yet there are no elves or fairies here, only the ghost-white rabbit that scurries toward the deeper cover of the swamp, or the rustling squirrel whose loud chatter breaks the woody silence.

LADY IN WAITING—January is the month in waiting. A month of waiting for the snows of February, the winds of March, and April's lifting of the veil of winter. It is a cold and brittle month, a month of beauty with little warmth of soul, and totally unlike the harriard month of February.

More than ever in this winter of little snow is January unemotionally serene. The tracks of deer, seen here and there in icy coverings, were made weeks ago. They seem remote, the tracks of animals now wandered far away, seemingly as distant as prehistoric beasts known only by their fossil footprints. So far it has been an easy winter for the deer. They travel unhindered by deep snow, feeding where they will. And this is good, for if they were confined by snow thousands would starve to death.

LITTLE PEOPLE—Grasses and ferns are crisp with frost, mosses stand upright as in summer because they have not been weighted down by snow. Where the hemlocks make a somber roof there is not the slightest trace of snow upon the ground, for what snow fell was caught in the tree tops and there melted away.

Aside from the swift blur of white that is the scurrying rabbit, and the unexpected chatter of a squirrel, there is little to disturb the quiet of the woods. Occasional chickadees hover low in the branches to chirp inquiringly, an owl floats on silent wings from a daytime perch, and once there was the flash of blue and white and the raucous cry accompanying the noisy passage of a blue jay.

The whistling woodchuck, the frogs that will welcome springtime with their piping, and most of the other small creatures of the woods and swamps are now asleep in the hibernation imposed by winter's cold.

THE TURN-COAT—The snowshoe rabbit is not a rabbit at all. It is a hare—and most unusual of all, a varying hare whose coat turns white for the winter months. While not the only wild animal to thus assume a protective wintertime color, the varying hare is otherwise unique in America. It is the third largest of the American "rabbits," is larger than the cottontail that inhabits

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago

Escanaba—John C. Bennett of 428 South Eighth street received notice yesterday of his temporary appointment as manager of the Upper Peninsula division of the Michigan Liquor Control commission at Escanaba. He succeeds William L. Johnson of Ironwood. Munising—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moody are the parents of a son born Jan. 17.

Gladstone—Mrs. Joseph Grimord of Alpha is visiting here with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Becker.

20 Years Ago

Escanaba—Arne Sviland, 1113 First avenue south has returned from Stavanger, Norway, his former home which he had not seen in 17 years. Mr. Sviland visited with his mother, two brothers and two sisters on his six-week visit. He came to Escanaba in 1902 and has visited in Norway twice before.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thatcher have left for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will spend the winter.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hansen are the parents of a daughter born Jan. 15 in Shaw hospital.

Gladstone—Miss Gunhild Skogquist, R. N., arrived yesterday from Evanston, Ill., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Skogquist. She will leave in a week for California where she will practice private duty nursing.

the farmer's fields; and is smaller than the jackrabbit and antelope rabbit of the western plains.

Long and rangy, the snowshoe rabbit, gets its name from its big hind feet and the tufts of hair that pad these feet to help sustain its weight when running over the snow. Even in soft new-fallen snow the snowshoe does not sink down very far, and on crusty snow its tracks are scarcely visible. A keen eye and speed are its protection from its enemies, including the owl, weasel, fox, hawk, coyote—and man. Perhaps he fears man least of all.

THE TRAP—What makes the snowshoe rabbit turn white at a certain time each fall? Biologists say it is a matter of temperatures. This causes the chemical reaction that turns white although there is no snow and this makes him more noticeable against the dark ground. His change to a protective coloring is a snare and delusion, for the rabbit believes he is against white whether there is snow. This leaves him exposed as a target—a white mark against the dull greens and browns of the swamp-land.

AT HOME—One other Northern Michigan animal also undergoes this color change. It is the weasel. In wintertime they are pure white except for the black tip on their tail. At this season their pelts are taken by trappers and the paper-thin skins are combined into luxurious ermine coats and wraps. Ferocious for his size, and wary, the weasel is still exposed to danger more when his coat is white and there is no snow.

Soon now the belated snow will come, and with it protection for some, danger for others of nature's creatures. February snowfall will blanket over the still-green ferns, the perky Prince Pine, and place a layer of insulation over the roots of plants and the nests of the hibernating woodchuck. This is much of nature's wealth held in cold storage.

New York, (AP)—Women's hats don't just happen. They are made to happen.

And there is quite a story behind the first hat of the land today—the hat that America's first lady will wear in Washington after husband Harry's swearing-in ceremony.

Bess Truman's inaugural reception hat proves we do live in one world. It is a kind of United Nations hat—welding together the artistic talents of ariad Africa, Italy, France and Hungary.

"There is only one hat of this kind in the world—and there will never be another," said Suzanne Remy, petite French designer. "And it will be worn just once. After that it will be put in the Smithsonian institution, where they also have a hat worn by Martha Washington."

Africa's contribution came from an anonymous ostrich, which donated ten tail plumes. An elderly Italian, the only man left in New York who can do this sort of work, then spent two weeks laboriously tearing the feathers apart and gluing them back together in the pattern Mlle. Remy designed.

He had to try 25 separate dyes before he could achieve the five shades of mauve the hat required to go with Mrs. Truman's grey dress. The hat was then shaped and completed by Mlle. Remy's Hungarian assistant, Nanouchka.

"It is really an international hat," said the designer, a pretty blue-eyed blonde of 28. "Mrs. Truman had two fittings. She said 'the boss' had seen it and liked it."

What else could a diplomatic husband—even the president of the United States—say?

The mauve ostrich feather creation was one of three hats Mlle. Remy designed for Mrs. Truman to wear during inaugural ceremonies. Daughter Margaret took one—a red hat with a big side bow.

"Margaret doesn't care much about hats," said Mlle. Remy. "She has such beautiful hair—she doesn't really need to wear a hat often. She tried on about 75 before she picked the one with the red bow."

Designing the inauguration hats capped a pleasant success story for Mlle. Remy herself.

"I came here from Paris in 1941 with only $200 and some materials," she recalled. "When I was down to my last twenty cents I had to do something. So I called up my friends and began designing their hats."

"I worked all alone in a basement. It was the happiest time of my life. Now I have the reputation of making the most expensive hats in New York."

"I will never give up hats. They are my life. But I don't care about selling my hats. I am a poor business woman."

Mrs. Truman was so pleased with her three hats that she invited Mlle. Remy to attend the inaugural reception—and ball. Mlle. Remy is going, of course, but—

"I haven't a decent hat to wear myself," she moaned. "I never do. I don't think I've ever had a good hat in my life."

She finally decided to wear a small beret with a hole in the top. "When I get off the plane, I will stick a big feather through the top," she laughed. "How do you think it will look?"

Foreign policy has taken a seat at the dinner table.—Secretary of State Marshall.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

CLOSING THE BOOK

On Nov. 1, 1947, one of the strangest treason cases of the war was exposed by Drew Pearson when he reported that Air Force Lieutenant Martin Monti of St. Louis had stolen a U. S. plane during the war and flown from India to Italy, following which he deserted to the Germans. Thereafter, Pearson stated, Monti had enlisted in the Elite SS Corps and served in the Nazi army. At the time of Pearson's original story—November 1, 1947—Monti was still in the U. S. Army!

In October of 1948, however, Lt. Monti was formally indicted by a federal grand jury in New York on a charge of treason for becoming an officer in the Elite SS Corps. And this week this story was brought to a close when Monti made open confession in Brooklyn (N. Y.) federal court to the crime of treason, and was sentenced to 25 years in federal prison and fined $10,000.

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—A lot of Washington's high society is pretty sore about this inaugural. They're not being invited to the big parties. This includes quite a few prominent senators, congressmen and lobbyists who take pride in being seen at all the right social functions. This time they have been left out in the cold.

This omission wasn't because they were Republicans—a lot of Democrats were left out, too. It was because Mr. Truman wanted most of the invitations reserved for the folks back home—the little people who came a long way to see the inaugural.

That's why the rental clothiers in Washington are swamped right now. You can't rent a dress suit for love or money. All the folks from out of town are in town renting tuxedos and tails to see the man they voted for made president of the United States.

It doesn't make any difference that Washington socialites make snide remarks about the "unwashed Trumanites." Harry Truman is standing pat and having the folks back home to see him sworn in.

Herein lies Harry Truman's greatest strength. A very large segment of the American people love Truman because they consider him one of their own. They admired and loved Franklin Roosevelt because he was their champion. But they did not consider him one of their own.

Truman, however, is different. His presence in the White House is a symbol of the fact that a haberdasher or farmer or county politician can sit in the White House—in fact, is already there.

That is Harry Truman's greatest strength, and also his greatest obligation. For he cannot let these people down.

TRUMAN'S TWO ASSETS

As Harry Truman takes the oath of office today, he has two new big assets which will help him mightily in carrying out his obligation to the people who elected him:

1. He has a new Congress which is vigorously, on the whole enthusiastically, with him.

No longer is he a political accident. No longer does he owe his place to a president who smiled upon him. He has been elected on his own and he intends to operate on his own.

These two assets are important. Also important is a third fact which is not an asset, but a liability—namely, the general level of mediocrity among the men around Truman.

Actually Truman's program is not new. The State of the Union message he sent to Congress was a good message, but it repeated in different words the same important proposals which Truman had sent to the 80th Congress.

The new 81st Congress will probably pass the bulk of this program. But after it is passed will come the difficult, vital task of carrying it out. And getting good men to run the government, in any administration, is a lot harder than it sounds.

MEDIOCRE MEN

One reason you can't get them is lack of inspiration. Good men don't work necessarily for money, but because they love their work, because they are achieving the goals they believe in. They don't like to work under mediocre men; and some of the cabineteters in the Truman official family, plus some of the advisers around him just do not inspire enthusiasm.

There is no use mentioning names at this time. If I did, Mr. Truman probably would hit the ceiling and become more determined than ever to keep them on. For he simply hates to have anyone tell him who should or should not be in his cabinet. Sometimes Truman himself has referred to his own cabineteters in scathingly critical language—but when someone else criticizes them, it's different.

TRUMAN'S OBLIGATION

Nevertheless, a revitalized cabinet is one of the most important obligations Harry Truman owes the people who elected him, as he takes the oath of office in his own right.

The people who throng the grandstands along Pennsylvania avenue and the capital plaza watching the ceremonies today won't be thinking about these things. They have come to consider their president as the little man from Missouri who has stepped into seven-league boots.

Great things are expected of him, the man who almost singlehandedly won the highest honor in the land. He is living proof that people can speak as they please, vote as they choose, and see their man take the oath of office. And today nobody is worried much about a cabinet.

The next four years, however, will prove whether Harry Truman's name will take a place beside that of the Andrew Jacksons and the Franklin Roosevelts, or whether he will be classified with the Andrew Johnsons and the Calvin Coolidges. And the factor which will balance history's decision will be whether he picks men with imagination to conceive and judgment to execute.

Chinchilla Breeders Plan Broad Program

A new program, designed to bring to the front the rapidly expanding Chinchilla industry, occupied major attention at the regular meeting of the Upper Michigan Chinchilla breeders association Wednesday evening at the Irvin Harbath ranch. Every item of the 16 point program, adopted in October by the board of directors of the National Chinchilla Breeders association, was thoroughly scrutinized, and following discussion, was ratified by the Upper Michigan group.

It was felt by those members present that the new code represents the greatest forward step taken by the industry since its inception. The program provides for immediate action through education, expanded services on the national level and close cooperation between the national association and its many branches with a view of speeding the rate of increase of the Chinchilla population.

Delegate to Convention
Definite dates are established by the new program for the introduction of Chinchilla prime pelts on the fur market, and to that end the national association will conduct a vigorous advertising campaign designed not only to establish a fur market but a modern pelt value as well as consumer demand.

Considerably encouraged by recent developments the local organization voted to send its chairman, M. A. Trams, of Escanaba, to the national convention and Chinchilla show which takes place in Denver, Colo., beginning Friday of this week. The gathering will be the first convention of wholly national scope in Chinchilla history, and will feature prize animals from sectional competitions throughout the United States and Canada.

Included in the educational program will be a complete study of climatic conditions most beneficial to the development of Chinchillas, feeding methods, care and maintenance of animals and degrees of altitude which have proven most satisfactory for best fur raising.

According to a statement released by H. H. Maxwell of Colorado Springs, chairman of the show committee, the present Chinchilla population is about 50,000 animals, distributed among 1,050 ranchers and farmers in the United States and Canada. It is expected the convention will aid breeders in their long range program of developing greater public interest in ranch raised animals and will help to revive the popularity of a fur which forty years ago was rated among the finest in luxury garment material.

It was pointed out at last night's meeting that the Chinchilla business in the western states is considerably ahead of this section in development and that information gained through attendance at the convention will provide the medium for accelerated expansion here.

Following disposition of the national program the Upper Michigan breeders continued the meeting by outlining and developing an active program for the benefit of their own members. The possibility of conducting a local animal exhibit open to the public was discussed and the idea will be taken under consideration until the next meeting.

It is estimated that U. S. automobiles totalled 600 billion passenger miles in 1947.

URGE TRAVEL TAX REPEAL

Development Bureau Is Waging Campaign

Secretaries and members of Chambers of Commerce throughout the region are being urged by Upper Peninsula Development Bureau officials to participate in the nation-wide campaign to repeal the federal tax on travel, a burden that has been described as an obstacle to growth of the travel industry.

In a letter to Chamber secretaries, George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Bureau, points out that the 15 per cent excise tax was placed on travel during the war period to reduce to a minimum civilian travel and consequently make room for conveying American troops.

Soliciting cooperation in the nation-wide movement to bring about repeal, Bishop asks Chambers to adopt resolutions favoring such repeal and to notify Congressmen from their district of their action.

"There is a general feeling throughout the nation, both upon the part of those selling travel and those buying travel, that the time has come when this excise tax should be removed," Bishop tells the Chamber secretaries.

"The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, National Association of Travel Officials, Michigan Tourist Council, Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and other organizations in many states are behind this movement.

"The continuance of this excise tax works a hardship upon those business organizations which require personnel that does a great amount of travelling. It works a hardship upon the tourist traveler whether he travels by bus, train or by air and also upon those interested in the support of the travel industry who feel that we should make our feelings in this regard made known to our representative in Congress so that this excise tax will be removed."

CAPITAL TO BE LIVELY PLACE

More Fun Than Barrel Of Monkeys

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York. — Oh, I'm going to miss that Washington during the next few months—miss the silvery streak of the hurled dagger, as it quivers in a boon companion's back; miss the velvety purr that goes with the un-sheathed claws; miss the plots and counterplots at the drinkin' parties in dear old smelly Georgetown.

Ruark

Washington ought to be a literal barrel of monkeys for the next year. The ratrace in the cocktail-and-caviar league, all by itself, should produce some stark drama worthy of Ibsen. A quarter-century sway has been uprooted in the last couple of years, and the battle for the vacancies should be epic.

Between them, Cissy Patterson and Evelyn Walsh McLean had a practical corner on the big lion-hunting safaris on the Potomac.

When Cissy and Evelyn snapped the whip, the cabinet members and the new senators and the diplomats turned handsprings. Nobody challenged those doughty old girls very hard. Their invite list pretty well summarized the Who's Who in Transientville.

Mrs. Mesta New Ruler

Since the fairly recent deaths of both Cissy and Mrs. McLean only one serious pretender has emerged. That would be Mrs. Perle Mesta, an open-handed Oklahoma gal with enough oil millions to insure that the champagne is valid and the caviar ample. Mrs. Mesta is momentarily all by herself in the race. She remained loyal to the cause during the Dewey dog-days in Philadelphia, and has been rewarded with the co-chairmanship of the inaugural ball.

Most of the wishful lion-hunters made the serious mistake of cleaning house for Republican occupancy, last fall, and when they threw out all the musty old Democratic furniture they killed off their Truman-reign prospects.

The young, pretty and heavily rich Mrs. Morris Cafritz was stepping along fine after the war, getting in a good crop of celebrities and middlin' dignitaries, and it looked very much as if she would be a serious contender after a few more mellowing years. But my Washington spies report she went hook-and-sinker for the Republicans, too, last year, and now must win back a lot of lost ground among the same old faces.

Mr. Truman, himself, sets a difficult task for the aspiring salon-keeper. Past presidents have not circulated among the canape snappers, but played quiet king in the White House. Mr. Truman has just snapped the precedent by accepting an invitation to a cocktail fight given by Treasury Secretary John Snyder at his home.

Trumans Sprucing Up

This puts the Snyder household a stout three up on the field. Henceforth, every ambitious hostess will have her beady eye pinned on a presidential acceptance, and the sound of breaking hearts will be heard as far north as Baltimore when Harry turns most of them down.

The Truman family, I understand, has come a fur piece away from its small-town modesty during the last term, when poppa was just standing-in for Mr. Roosevelt. Bess and Margaret didn't compete very strongly in the clothes-horse sweepstakes, and were pretty folksy when they ventured out into society.

"But," says my operative, "the gals are sprucing up considerable now, and are beginning to tilt the chin. Bess used to be downright chummy when I ran into her, and now she looks a hole right through me. The whole family's attitude has changed since Harry got back under his own steam. Matter of fact, nobody down here knows where they stand, because most everybody got off the winner last fall. We will just have to stand quiet, and jockey for position all over again."

That would have been too slow for Evelyn Walsh McLean. She would have had the president and the whole cabinet out for Sunday beans within a week, if she had to kidnap the lot of them.

Jefferson P-T-A
Sets New Record
In Membership

A record membership of 305 fathers and mothers has been established by the Jefferson Parent-Teacher association which closed its annual membership drive at last night's meeting held in the girls' basement of the school.

The membership now is more than treble that of previous records.

The program of the evening included three interesting colored sound films, "Michigan Canoe Trails," "Wild Wings," and "Michigan Commercial Fishing" shown by Conservation Officers Clayton Brown and Gilbert Larson. The program was followed by lunch served by Mrs. Herbert Dreger and Mrs. Arthur Kent, fourth grade mothers, assisted by a volunteer committee.

Miss Margaret Fitzsimmons, first grade received the attendance award.

Scout Board Is Meeting Tonight

Members of the Girl Scout county board will hold a meeting tonight in the Carnegie public library at 8 o'clock. Representatives from every area in the county will be present. At this meeting plans will be formulated to organize the Girl Scouts of the entire county into a county organization, and to plan the summer camping activities. Mrs. Otto Hult, chairman of the county board will preside. This is an important meeting, to precede a county organization meeting to be held next month, which will be attended by Miss Margaret Olson, national field representative of the Girl Scouts. The meeting tonight will complete all plans to be submitted at the February meeting. After February, the Girl Scouts in this area will be organized under a county plan, to more closely correlate the work of the Girl Scouts in the entire county, with a central board. Details of the county organization will be explained in full after the February organization meeting.

Today's Recipes

Another excellent recipe for old fashioned meat pie, requested by a Daily Press reader, was received today from Miss Alice P. Sayen of Escanaba Route One.

Christmas Meat Pie

Two pounds ground fresh pork steak
One good sized onion, ground
Salt and pepper to taste
One-half teaspoon allspice
Add water and cook slowly on the stove until the meat is well done. Leave enough broth so it will not be too dry. Fill in between two pie crusts, make a hole in the center of top crust. Bake until well browned. Do not make pie crust as rich as for pies. This will make a large pie.

Clergyman Will Teach Part Time
At Stephenson

Rev. Ronald Brunger, minister of the Stephenson Methodist church, has been hired by the board of education of the Stephenson Public Schools for part-time teaching. He will teach a class in American History and a class in Mathematics in the high school. He will also assist in the Study Hall.

Rev. Brunger received his Bachelor of Arts Degree and a Teaching Certificate from Albion College in June 1933.

Hospital

Mrs. John Norlin, Gladstone Route One, is a medical patient in St. Francis hospital. She is now permitted visitors.

Improvise mitts to protect freshly manicured hands from messy cleaning tasks. A square of paper thin plastic film tied loosely over hands and around wrists will protect hands without hampering fingers.

605-WFirst 'Artificial'
Calf Born in Alger
County ABA Circuit

Munising — The first calves born as the result of artificial breeding in Alger county were born this past week, according to Robert Smith, of Chatham, Alger county artificial breeding association inseminator, manager.

The first calf in the A. B. A. was a heifer born in the herd of Walter Juntunen, of Eben Junction. She was born about three weeks premature, but was a large, strong, healthy calf. She was sired by a proven Holstein sire kept on the Michigan State College farm at East Lansing. This sire was a U. S. D. A. proof showing six daughters with an average of 521 pounds of butterfat and an average test of 3.9.

Two calves which were sired artificially were born at the Michigan State College experimental station at Chatham, on January 6 and 9. The dams of these calves were bred artificially by William Lutz, livestock specialist in charge of the Chatham herd, and Frank Stuer, the herdsman. Because of some breeding trouble in the Chatham herd, Lutz had semen sent from the A. B. A. central at East Lansing and started breeding artificially before the Alger county artificial breeding association started operation.

The first calf born at the Experiment Station was a heifer sired by a proven Holstein sire that raised the production of his daughters 100 pounds of butterfat over the production of their dams. The second calf born at the experiment station was a bull calf sired by a proven Holstein sire with 9 tested daughters averaging 545 pounds of butterfat—62 pounds higher than their dams.

Calves from proven sires of this kind are bound to improve the herds of Alger County in the years to come, Smith said.

MADE PLEA FOR STRONG LEGION

American Legion Head Visited City

The American Legion must be strong in order to cope with problems of vital importance concerning the veteran, R. G. Mathieson, department commander of that organization told a gathering of Legion and Auxiliary members at a dinner meeting at the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp Wednesday noon.

There is a tendency on the part of certain government agencies to curtail certain legislation in the veteran's interest and the Legion must be a force to say that such must not be. He cited among other instances in this respect, the cancellation of construction of two government hospitals in Michigan.

The rehabilitation mandate passed at the Miami convention, embodying housing, pensions and rehabilitation, must be carried through, he said.

Commander Mathieson and

Supervisors Ask Opening of Indian Lake To Spearfishing

Consideration of reports of various county government units took most of the time of Tuesday's session of the county board of supervisors which came to a close that evening.

Reports considered were the annual report of the Schoolcraft County Road Commission, the agents report, and those of the health department and the poor commissioner. All were approved as read.

Other matters taken up was the passage of a resolution requesting the state department of conservation to open Indian Lake to the winter spearing of northern pike. Sentiment favoring this resolution was strengthened by a letter from the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's club, favoring the opening.

Bonds for county officials were approved.

A matter of petty controversy came up near the close of the meeting when the usual matter of sending representatives of the board to the supervisor's state convention at Lansing, Wells Bowers objected to the motion that the chairman appoint a committee of two to accompany him.

Social

Adolescent Psychology Discussed at Womens Club

"Adolescent Psychology" was the subject of a highly interesting talk presented by Mrs. John Hanson to members of the Manistique Womens' club at their meeting Tuesday afternoon at Lakeside school. Mrs. Hanson, who holds a doctor of philosophy degree in clinical psychology from the University of Iowa, served for six years as psychologist and director of special education in the public schools of Sioux City, Iowa. Her talk Tuesday presented several case histories and experiences gleaned from her contacts with children of elementary school age.

Mrs. Hanson defined adolescence as the period between childhood and adulthood when the higher thought processes have developed, and the child can think, reason, and judge for himself. The speaker presented a chalk diagram depicting the relationship of authority between the child and school and parents from birth to about the age of 20 or maturity. During the pre-school period, there is sole parental authority. At the age of 8 or 10 the child has his first social influence in gang experience, which can be clubs or Scouting or the neighborhood gang, of which he is a vital part. At the age of 12 he enjoys group participation and identifies his satisfaction with what the group is doing. "There should be a dwindling of parental authority and assuming of individual responsibility," the speaker stated, "Upon completion of school or college, he should be ready for complete parental emancipation and able to assume the responsibility of his own acts. Only a mature person can have good mental health," she declared.

Mrs. Hanson urged parents to delegate responsibility to their growing children, to gradually relinquish authority and insist that they make their own decisions according to their age and ability.

"If you want your child to develop into a mature individual, responsible only to himself, accepting the consequences of his own acts, then remember that authority and responsibility cannot be separated. If you want him to be responsible for his own acts, then he must have the authority. Our job as parents is to make the child be ready for complete parental emancipation, to make them mature individuals at adulthood."

"Satisfaction in living is necessary to good mental health," Mrs. Hanson stated. "That comes from achievement in relation to make your own decisions in reference to your own achievement and accept them. Satisfaction in living comes in achieving, in the doing, not the success."

The speaker took issue with our modern thinking about education, where grades and a place on the honor roll are often times help up to the child as the goal, even to goading him with remuneration at home for high marks. "The parents' job is not to be concerned about the end, the honor roll," she declared, but about the achieving. A place on the honor roll or good grades should be incidental, not the goal. Understanding the subject matter should be of prime importance, and with this the goal, good grades would naturally follow. Offering pay to a child for high marks does not work toward the good mental health of the child, or toward satisfaction in living."

Mrs. Hanson told of the value of an allowance, over which there is no supervision, to teach the child the use of money, and to make his own decisions.

The need of recreational outlets free from immediate adult supervision from puberty to adulthood was emphasized. What ever your program with your family she declared, "ask yourself this question—is it teaching responsibility?"

Her talk was presented in an effort to develop better attitudes and understanding between parents and their children, and proved thoroughly enjoyable to the club members.

Nominating Committee

During the business meeting which opened the afternoon, a nominating committee was named by the president, Mrs. C. F. Anderson, to draft a slate of officers. They are Mrs. Scott Creighton, chairman, Mrs. Mauritz Carlson, Mrs. William Corson, Mrs. H. Secore, and Mrs. Rodger Smith. A donation of $5 was also approved for the March of Dimes.

Otmer Schuster appeared before the club on behalf of the Youth Center. Mr. Schuster gave a brief history of the Center and told of its need of funds, if it is to continue beyond the first of April. He explained the need it is filling in the community, the in-

Eight Day Sunday School Program Comes To Close

Miss Lynette Martin of Rochester, N. Y. spent eight days assisting in the work of the Sunday school of the First Baptist church. During her stay here she conducted three two hour classes in teacher training with an average attendance of twenty persons. Those who took the course will receive a certificate of credit from the denomination.

Also five Bible story hours were organized. These classes are held in different homes in various parts of the city, one hour a week after school for five weeks, for children ranging in age from 4 to 7, and from 8 to 13.

Those in whose homes the classes are being held are: Mrs. Vilas Young, Mrs. Walter Linderoth, Mrs. Stanley Carlyon, Mrs. Norman Brown, and Mrs. John Anderson. The teachers and assistants are: Mrs. Burton Jones, Mrs. Richard Cummings, Mrs. Ed Ekdahl, Mrs. Clarence Thorell, and Mrs. Natalie Olson.

Miss Martin left on Tuesday night for Grand Rapids where she will assist at the Burton Heights Baptist church in another "Winning the Children for Christ Crusade."

Manistique Camera Club Holds Election And Annual Banquet

Following Monday night's annual banquet at Denny's private dining room, the Manistique Camera Club elected the following officers for the coming year: Carl F. Anderson, president; Mary Rankin, vice president; Faye Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

In the monthly competition, Mrs. James Fyvie placed first and second; Carl Anderson, third. Voted the best picture of the year was Noel Harbin's "Picnic Spot in Winter Dress."

Interest and student participation, and urged that steps be taken to insure its continuance.

Two piano numbers were presented by Miss Nadine Westine which also were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Following the meeting tea was served from an attractive table with a floral arrangement forming the centerpiece. Mrs. Louis Hartman was chairman of the hostess committee. Assisting her were Mrs. Harry Secore, Mrs. Harold Bradley, Mrs. R. L. Prime, Mrs. G. Johnson, Mrs. John Girvin, Mrs. Robert Curley and Mrs. Renold Anderson.

WOULD RETAIN VETS COUNSEL

VFW Post Protests Threat To Service

Seriously concerned over the prospect that the local veterans counseling center may be closed, the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at its regular meeting Tuesday evening drafted the following letter to be sent to officers of the Schoolcraft county council of Veterans' Affairs, members of the Manistique city council and members of the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors:

"Dear Sir:
"By a unanimous vote of our membership I am directed to present our strongest protests against the proposed closing of the local veterans counseling center. This office is of paramount importance to the individual welfare of each and every veteran of our country and as such must be given the just consideration due any agency of this importance to such a large group of the county's citizens.

"No other agency in the county can adequately care for our needs. No other agency in the county can properly devote the necessary time and labor to process our justified claims. No other agency in the county can understand fully our problems unless they too saw the fire and bombs, death and agony, and/or enemy imprisonment of the past conflict. "A full-time veteran having complete mastery of the many and varied benefits available to his comrades-in-arms and their dependents, having a personal interest in every case of need, and having the full support of each and every citizen of his community must be given this

"If the cost of operation of the center be the major objection to its continuance, every possible means should be delved into to solve this problem so that continuance be assured. If the manner of management of the center be the objection, explorative conferences should immediately be started toward obtaining a replacement. Above all, we veterans feel this counseling center must be continued. Approximately four hundred World War I and four hundred World War II veterans in this county alone depend on this assistance in our time of need.

Respectfully yours,
Donald A. MacLean,
Commander."

MAY LAUNCH NEW INDUSTRY

Former Employees Confer With LeMaire

Prospects that a local industry which recently ceased to function may be revived on perhaps a smaller scale, are contained in action taken recently by six former employees of the Manistique Tool & Manufacturing Company.

In a letter to Frank LeMaire, former head of that concern, they have asked his assistance in getting the concern started and to supervise the enterprise.

The plant would, as before, deal in the manufacture of precision tools and instruments.

The letter to Mr. LeMaire follows:

"To Frank LeMaire:
"We, the undersigned, have assembled and discussed the possibility of revising the Manistique Tool Shop under your direction and leadership with a cooperative system by which we would appropriate approximately $1,000 each.

"We trust that we can express our views and hope that a workable solution can be arranged and we can get together in the near future to work this out definitely.

"If you are interested Frank, we are waiting eagerly for your reply.

Sweden Is Complying With Marshall Plan

By HERMAN G. NELSON

Sweden is doing its utmost to comply with the spirit of the Marshall plan and to make the Marshall dollar program in Europe effective. Aided by a letter of introduction by Vice President Alben W. Barkley, I sought to ascertain how the Marshall plan was operating in a country like Sweden.

I found that Sweden is using its Marshall help dollars, all of them in the form of loans which must be repaid, mostly for the purchase in the United States of Petroleum products for industrial use to expand its production of goods for export.

I learned this first-hand from Stephen Reynolds, executive assistant in the Marshall plan office set up in Stockholm. He was gracious and courteous in answering all my questions and explaining the operations of the plan and the European recovery program. Reynolds had served on General Clay's staff in Berlin but had been in Stockholm since last September. In private life, he is an investment banker in New York City.

"Sweden has lived up to the letter of the plan very well," Reynolds told me. He explained that the Swedish government had cooperated splendidly.

Gets No Outright Grants

Sweden gets only one type of Marshall aid, namely loans of American dollars. It gets no outright grants, as do some European lands, including Norway. In the third quarter of 1948, Sweden received a loan of $10,000,000. The fourth quarter loan was for the same amount but the first quarter loan for 1949 was boosted to $13,000,000.

Reynolds pointed out that Sweden has a big plant capacity but that it lacks fuel and labor to make the fullest and most effective use of that plant capacity. For that reason, Sweden has been using most of its loan dollars to purchase petroleum products in America for industrial uses. Generally, Reynolds said, purchases which Marshall dollars are for machinery, parts for industrial machines and plants, petroleum products and chemicals.

Every nation which receives Marshall dollars must fulfill certain obligations, Reynolds said, and the most important of these is that production of export goods must be increased. Whatever is bought with Marshall dollars must serve to "build up" the industrial machine of the nation internally so that exports shall be increased, both to the United States and to European nations.

Reynolds explained that no attempt is made to dictate to the Swedish government but that the dollars are made available "on a conditional basis." He said "we don't say from whom Sweden should buy or to whom Sweden should sell but we reserve the right to review what Sweden intends to buy."

The Marshall plan office, located in the same building in Stockholm as the American embassy, deals with the Swedish government and not with the Swedish business houses or industries.

In regard to the procurement orders for the first quarter of 1949, making use of the allocation of $13,000,000, Reynolds said that the report of his office was to the effect that "we are in complete accord."

Must Help Itself

The amount of Marshall aid to Sweden, and the same applies to every other country, Reynolds said, depends "on how effectively Sweden helps itself and the rest of Europe to recover."

For the budget years of 1948-1949, Sweden would get $72,000,000 in Marshall help loans, according to the report submitted by the European commission.

Woman Thrown Out Of Car Near Flint Tells of Kidnaping

Flint, Mich., Jan. 20. (AP)—Police today questioned a young woman who told them she was kidnaped in Battle Creek, Mich., beaten and thrown nearly nude from a car near here.

They said she identified herself to them as Hazel Rider of Battle Creek. She was being treated at Hurley hospital. Her age was estimated at between 20 and 27 years.

Officers said she had not been drinking and there was no indication that she had been raped. They noted bruises about her mouth as though she had been struck.

There were no scratches on her body to indicate that she had been disrobed forcibly, the police report said. When found she was wearing a red coat with a hood, silk hose and stadium boots.

A Battle Creek city bus ticket was found in the pocket of her coat.

BIRDS AND BEES

San Francisco, Jan. 20. (AP)—The newest subdivision of San Francisco's police department is officially named the sex detail.

But the name seems inadequate to one member of the detail.

He reiterated the office door: "Birds and Bees Detail."

Production of the four principal nut crops eaten by Americans now totals about 348 million pounds a year.

HARVEY PARR HOME FIRE

January 19, 1949
Escanaba Daily Press
Escanaba, Michigan

Dear Sir:

This letter is in reference to an article which was printed in your paper about three weeks ago, concerning a fire at the home of Harvey Parr, of Marquette, Michigan.

In your article you ascribed the source of the fire to the gas unit in the house.

As a matter of fact, it was not possible to lay the blame on either the gas or any gas equipment, to the contrary, all the evidence indicates that gas was in no way the cause of this disaster.

The wide circulation which this story has received has dealt quite a blow to the business and reputation of my client, who furnished gas to the home of Mr. Parr.

In the light of these disclosures it might be in order for you to print a retraction.

We will appreciate any steps which you feel you can take to mitigate the damage caused by this unfortunate article.

Sincerely yours,
Clair J. Hoeft

Loss Near Million Reported In Fire At Independence, Mo.

Independence, Mo., Jan. 20. (AP)—A pre-dawn fire in near zero weather raged through a half block of business buildings in President Truman's hometown this inauguration day, causing damage approaching $1,000,000.

The downtown fire was only eight blocks from the summer White House.

Fire Chief D. A. Kincaid said damage may run as high as $1,000,000. It was one of the worst fires in the more than 100 years of Independence's history.

No one was reported injured but 30 persons were evacuated from a residential building as the fire spread to the accompaniment of exploding small arms ammunition in a hardware store.

Five fire companies from near-by Kansas City and two from a suburban district helped four Independence companies in bringing the fire under control after a three hour before dawn battle in three above zero temperature.

Independence's 40,000 residents had prepared to celebrate its famous son's inauguration with a big parade and an inaugural ball is scheduled. It was not decided immediately whether the inaugural celebration would continue as scheduled.

New Grand Haven Building Honors Cutter Escanaba

Grand Haven, Jan. 20. (AP)—The Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce was functioning today in its first permanent home in the organization's 36-year history.

More than 300 citizens participating in the dedication last night of the new $30,000 building heard themselves warmly praised by a United States Chamber of Commerce official for financing the construction "without turning to government agencies for a hand-out."

A highlight of the dedication ceremony was presentation to the community of a painting of the Coast Guard cutter Escanaba, lost in action in World War II.

Capt. Chester Anderson of Coast Guard headquarters in Washington made the presentation. The picture will hang in the new Chamber of Commerce building in memory of the men of the Escanaba. They were stationed here before the war.

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet's Fabulous Washing Discovery

FAB WITH SUPER-WETTING ACTION washes everything CLEANER, WHITER and FASTER than any soap on earth!

Yes, in hardest water, FAB washes all family wash faster, cleaner, whiter and brighter than any soap ever made! Cleans even grimest overalls cleaner faster than soap!

When you wash, FAB with Super-Wetting Action penetrates materials faster and more thoroughly, pushes dirt out! And FAB is up to twice as economical as soap in hard water. No soap suds with FAB!

FABULOUS SUDS IN HARDEST WATER! You can use half as much FAB as soap in hardest water...and get a washer full of rich, thick, dirt-bustin' SUDS.

NEW INGREDIENT GETS DAD'S SHIRTS WHITER! FAB contains a fabulous, new ingredient that gets white wash whiter and colors brighter. There is no "graying" soap suds with FAB. Your whole wash looks fresher, brighter!

FAB WASHES DISHES TWICE AS FAST! Dishes and glassware shine without wiping. Just wash and rinse. FAB leaves no soap scum or film to polish away. And slashes through grease as no soap can!

What is Super-Wetting Action? To see, roll cotton thread into a little ball and drop into a glass of water. It floats, stays dry along time. Drop another little ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks, becomes soaked at once.
